WESTLANDS' FOOD FOR THOUGHT THE WEEKLY REPORT ON CALIFORNIA'S BROKEN WATER SYSTEM

October 20, 2016

The Broken Water System is everyone's problem.

"Flows don't work. It's 20th century water management. We are in the 21st century [...] We think California can do better."

-Northern California Water Association

"Capturing and delivering sufficient supplies in a typical year is what really determines the reliability of a water system. And for that, today's system is not as effective as it needs to be."

-Metropolitan Water District

"the Bay-Delta is no longer a reliable water supply system, nor a healthy habitat for fish and other wildlife."

-San Diego Water Authority

"Lastly, fix the "problems" in the Delta. More fresh water flushed through the Golden Gate year after year won't fix the problems in the Delta, nor does give the fish a place to hide and thrive. Sadly, flushing all this water to the ocean, year after year, has shown no measureable ecosystem benefits. Instead this practice has resulted in a monumental waste of water."

-Mountain Counties Water Resources Association

"Government water policies are responsible for the decline in farming and risks to the communities in the San Joaquin region..."

It's time for honesty in the very worthwhile debate about how YOUR water is being prioritized.
