

By the Numbers: 2022 Crop Report

Farmers in Westland's Water District are some of the most productive and water efficient in the world – producing 50+ high-quality crops, while supporting tens of thousands of jobs and feeding families in the San Joaquin Valley and around the world. Agricultural production in Westlands Water District is critical to meeting California's – and the nation's – food supply and food security needs.

35,000+ jobs
supported by Westlands

The unique combination of weather and soil conditions in Westlands help farmers produce:

3.5% of the nation's fruit & nut crops

5.4% of the nation's vegetables & melons

$4.7 billion
in annual farm-related economic activity

Total Acreage:
614,700

Total Producing Acreage:
313,522

Total Fallowed Acreage:
223,736*

*Value represents approximately 36% of total acreage. Historically, the amount of land fallowed increases as a result of inadequate water supply.
